

Concord, NC: March 2008~ Of course, you would like to think that since our announcement last month regarding Chad Hackenbracht as the youngest and newest driver for HLM that maybe he was adjusting and getting settled into his new role. Well, throw that thought out the window. "Rad Chad" has been representing HLM and RED Devil with championship colors! Racing this weekend at the famous Bristol Speedway in the Battle of Bristol, Chad has improved his stats with 1st, 2nd and 4th place finishes. Wow, what a statement the RED Devil car made in Bristol with over 30 cars in the class. During end of race questioning with Chad, "the car was great; I didn't have to force anything; it was just a clean weekend of racing and winning! Thanks to HLM and RED Devil for all of your support."

For more details on Rad Chad's schedule check back on the HLM website as we will be providing more updates soon. As for right now, Chad will be racing at Concord Motorsports on Friday nights and this Saturday (5th), he will be racing at South Boston Raceway in Virginia. Way to go Rad Chad ~smoking hot in the RED Devil Legends series car!

In addition~ Keep your eyes open for the RED Devil ARCA car, planning to hit the tracks mid season; as well as, the RED Devil Bandolero car making it's debut on the tracks in the Lowe's Motor Speedway Summer Shootout June 10th through August 12th!
